Social Media Marketing

Facebook best practices and using Facebook Messenger

Summary Notes

Contents

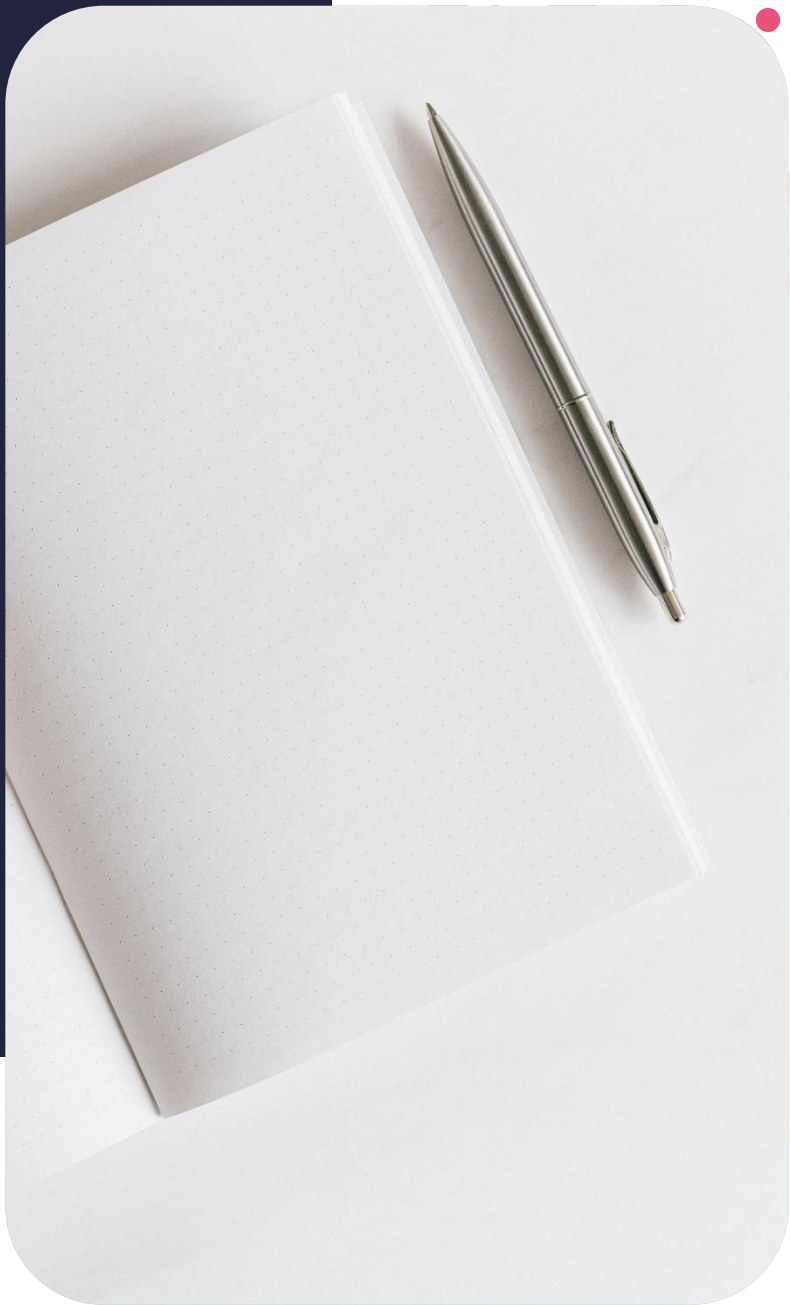
3 Lesson Objectives

3 Fun Fact

3 Facebook content development

6 Facebook best practices

6 Facebook Messenger



Lesson outcomes

- Facebook posting features
- Publishing tools
- Creator studio

Fun Fact

More than *20 billion messages are exchanged between businesses and users monthly on Facebook Messenger.

Recording says 10 billion - correction to 20 billion.

Facebook content development

Elements of a post

Visual Asset: the creative or visual is what catches people's attention, so make it as engaging and thumb stopping as possible.
Copy: after the visual has caught their attention, people focus on what you've got to say.
Brand: after reading what you have to say, people look at who is saying it.
Comments: and if they are still interested they will read what others have to say about the ad, product and brand.

Facebook stories

Drive brand awareness

- Stories are immersive, allowing you to connect to customers, followers and communities
- They help you to target the right audience by matching users online behaviours
- Stories should be quick and playful
- And you can apply text, filters and other effects quickly and easily

Facebook groups

Drive community engagement

- Invite users to your group
- Learn more about members
- Drive conversations
- Participate in conversations
- Encourage event participation
- Moderate the group
- Establish group rules and community guidelines
- Feel empowered to remove members

Video creative

Drives engagement

- Show the most important part of your story first
- Show your brand or product in the first seconds
- Incorporate your logo and other brand shots
- Keep it short and get the message out quickly
- Cater for with sound and sound off
- Use your brand colours
- A/B split testing

Facebook live

Drives engagement and brand awareness

- Build anticipation for the broadcast
- Pre-recorded and presented as live
- Schedule live feed
- Audio only broadcast
- Use themes
- Ask for questions
- Use pinned comments
- Test your Wi-Fi connection
- Outro the broadcast
- Publish video to page

Facebook events

Generate awareness

- Move your events tab to the top of your page
- Promote your event off of Facebook as well
- Pin your event to the top of your page
- Post content around your event
- List local co-hosts to amplify awareness
- Use a page event plugin
- Provide updates during the event
- Share event photos and videos, event highlights and thank attendees and organisers
-

Motion in visuals

Drives action

To drive action without a huge budget, use motion in your posts

Basic motion: 1 -2 elements move
Brand in motion: adding movement to logo
Benefit in motion: primary message/benefits/features are animated
Demo in motion: puts how product works or how ordering works in movement Facebook best practices

Brand best practices

- Campaigns should be people based
- Ensure content is conversational and authentic
- Create exclusive content
- Post a variety of content
- Post consistently
- Acknowledge comments and engagement from fans
- Make use of your insights to inform content decisions
- Turn on two-factor authentication to prevent hacking
- Add your location/s
- Use hashtags

Facebook image specifications

- Profile image: 180 X 180 px
- Cover photo: 820 X 312 px in RGB JPEG file less than 100 kb
- Post images: 1 200 X 630 px
- Shared Link Images: square images – 154 X 154 px rectangular images – 470 x 246 px
- Milestone image: 840 X 403 px
- Highlighted images: 1 200 X 717 px
- Event image: 1 920 X 1 080 px
- Stories (vertical): 1 080 X 1 920 px

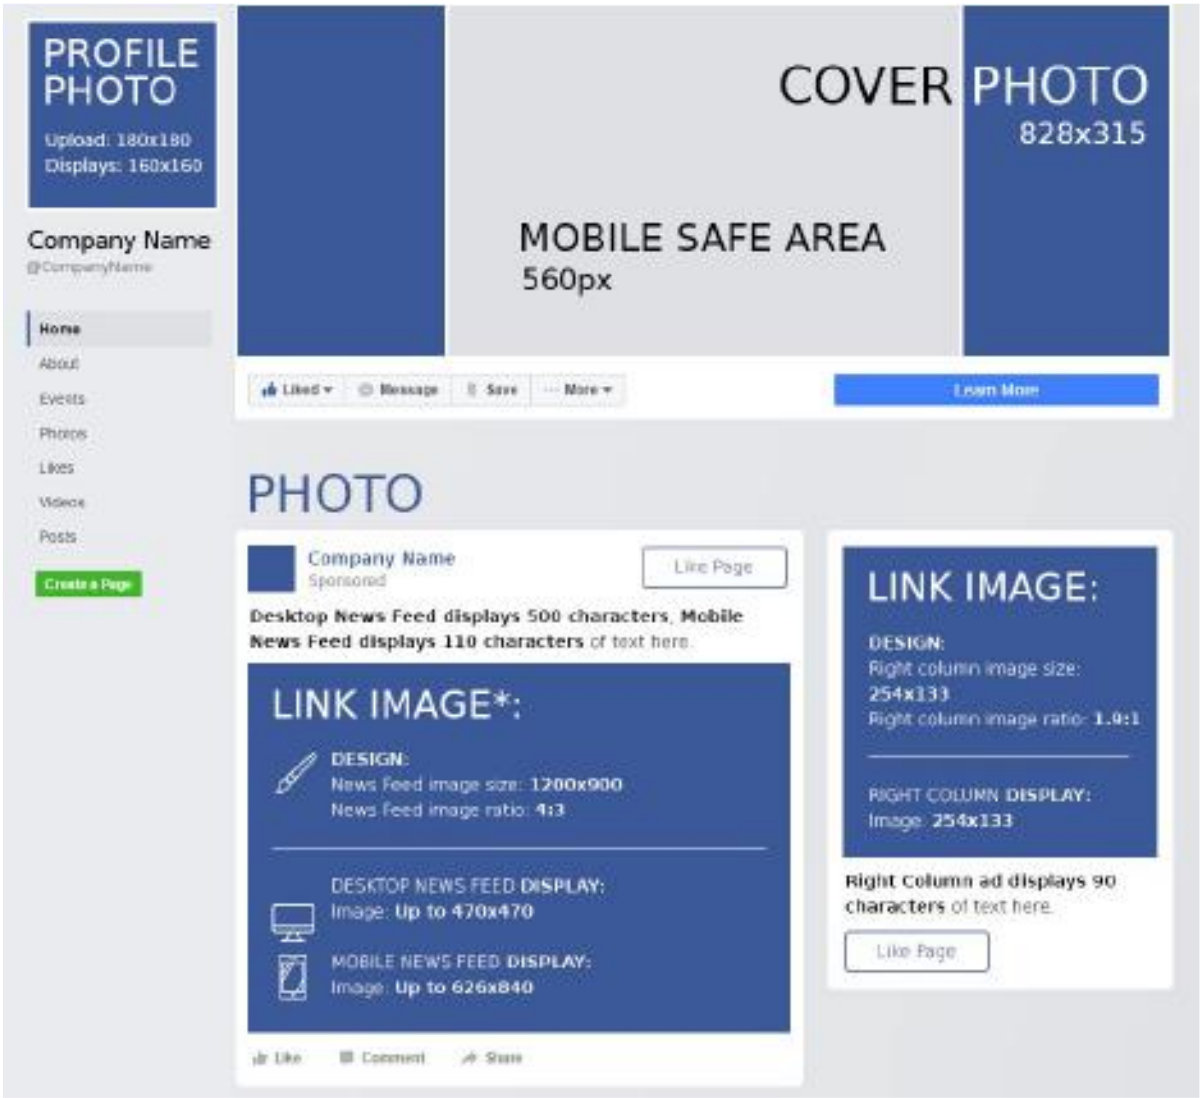

Image Source: dreamgrow.com

Additional information:

https://visual.ly/community/infographic/social-media/facebook-ad-specifications-and-dimensions

Facebook video specifications

- MP4 format recommended
- 1080p or less resolution
- File sizes up to 10 GB
- Videos must be less than 240 minutes long.
- Stereo AAC audio compression with 128 kbps or more

Facebook Messenger

What is Facebook Messenger?

Messenger is a messaging service that is separate to Facebook, it has it's own app and also powers the Facebook inbox.

Messenger allows you to:

- Send direct messages to users
- Send group messages
- Voice and video calls
- Share photos, videos, stickers, audio and files
- Share maps and locations
- Discover and interact with businesses
- Automate business messages

Fun Fact!
64% of people across all age groups say they would rather message a business than call or email.

Why use Messenger for business marketing?

Quality customer service: digital natives expect brands to be online and available not only for customer service, but to ask about products and services and to make a purchase.
Build trust: having a human to human conversation with a customer will build a sense of trust in your brand - the messages you exchange is a chance to learn about the customer, follow up with them, anticipate their needs or even keep them up to date with relevant specials or new products or services.
Generate high-quality leads: if the user is contacting you through messenger it means that they are most likely in the consideration phase and determining whether to purchase from you.
Drive purchase intent: your message and responses could be what converts them.
Private conversations: Messenger is also a good place to have private conversations for more sensitive topics such as woman's health.

Getting started with messenger

Ensure that users can message you privately
Go to your settings -> general -> and messages – check that the allow people to contact my page privately is ticked
General settings
This allows you to use the return or enter key to respond to messages – if this feature is off you have to click send in order to send the message – this is a suggestion option for companies that have multiple users sending messages to prevent any errors.
Greetings
When you scroll down to Starting a Messenger conversation – you can set your messenger to show a greeting – this appears in the chat window on the bottom right of your page – when you switch the toggle from off to on it will pop up with an option to change the greeting. If you want to change it – click the change button – this will bring up a pop up that allows you to change your message as well as add personalisations such as first name of recipient which is always a really good idea as it personalises the interaction – you can also add the surname of the recipient, full name, facebook page link or website link and then you can click save.
Messenger Link
The messenger link directs users straight to your page messenger – you can use this on your website, in an email, sms or even on print media such as a flyer.
Messenger on your website
Add messenger directly to your website as a customer chat plugin– under the add messenger to website section – click on get started > additional information will appear > click next > choose language > add a greeting message or change the greeting message by clicking on the change button > change your message > click save > click next > adjust your brand colours > click next > input your domain name > add code to your website or email instructions to your webmaster or developer.
Automated responses
Click on setup button > set your greeting response, instant replies or set an away message > you can also set frequently asked questions so that you can share information and your users can get it > job application notifications can be sent to applicants > as well as follow ups, appointment reminders, appointment follow up, page recommended or page not recommended.
Want to recap this?
Rewatch lesson recording from 19:06 to 23:25.

Messenger for Business

Step 1: Plan

- Target audience messaging
- Consider message across entire customer journey
- What information do they want?
- What information would add value?
- What is your objective for using messenger?

Top Tip!

Anticipate customer needs

Proactively building questions and topics into your conversations that frequently come up will help you meet your customers needs and avoid drop off

Step 2: Create

- Live
- Automated
- Custom or hybrid
- Bring your experience to life
- Keep your tone of voice and persona top of mind
- Creative assets
- Outline your approach to messenger

Top Tip!

Create a prototype

Create a prototype of your messenger experience before building it. Botsociety is a tool that helps build quick and easy prototypes.

Step 3: Reach

- Create awareness around messaging option
- Online and offline entry points
- Where are you going to place prompts?
- How do you want people to discover you?
- When do you re-engage with users?
- How can you leverage messenger within your customer journey?

Step 4: Test

- Areas of improvement
- Identify drop off points
- Survey users after the messaging experience

Step 5: Expand

- Test and learn what works
- Modify your messaging experience
- Achieve new objectives with messenger

Using Messenger in the customer journey

The conversation between people and businesses usually starts early in the consumer journey. Users are not only messaging businesses for customer support but for more information about new products, to ask questions and make purchases. This means that as a brand – we have a lot of power to influence the decisions they make and the opportunity to encourage them to take a specific action.

Awareness: bring your experience to life with interesting and engaging conversation – think of sharing content like e-books or videos.
Consideration: bridge the gap between interest and action by providing specific product or service information.
Purchase: help to drive action by offering a trial or discount coupon as an example.
Relationship: build relationships with your customers using messenger to enhance their experience by keeping them updated with industry news or creating a fully functional shopping experience, sending them catalogues or more!

Messenger in conjunction with Facebook

To fully engage your audience you want to create an align your campaigns and messaging as well as reengage users.

1. Create a campaign that invites users to interact with your brand via messenger
2. Make sure that you engage with your customers through messenger
3. Use in-message ads to reengage customers to continue with their initial conversations – this is particularly useful if you are guiding them along their customer journey.

Building conversations with customers

Distinctive
Tone of voice

- Be consistent
- Build a personal character or good narrative
- How will your brand voice be conveyed through messenger
- Brand character
- Use your brand character in your communications
- Include a spokesperson, influencer or give your bot it's own personality
- Narrative
- You can also tell a story through messenger
- Provide subscribers with exclusive content through messenger

Expressive
Guided conversations

- Provide answers to choose from
- Use quick replies, carousels and lists

Photos and videos

- Communicate more effectively and creatively
- Share instructional, exclusive or behind the scenes content

Personalisation

- Digital souvenirs
- Personalised photos, videos, prize and gift cards

Magical
Interpretive response

- Personalise photo or video content
- Personalised product and style recommendations
-

Remote control

- Users can send questions or instructions that lead to real-world actions
- Send a gift to a friend
- Create a switchboard
- Messenger can connect users that message to brand advocates, sales representatives or other customers

Create a switchboard

- Messenger can connect users that message to brand advocates, sales representatives or other customers

Top Tip!

Find the right developer
Use Facebook's Solutions Explorer to identify Messenger developers by country, language and expertise.

Messenger stories

View a tour of Messenger in the Lesson recording from 35:53 to 38:02.

Facebook Stories	Messenger Stories
Facebook Stories do not share to Messenger Stories	Messenger Stories will post to Facebook Stories
Facebook Stories available on desktop and mobile apps - Facebook Lite	Messenger Stories is only available on its mobile app - not desktop or Facebook Lite
Facebook Stories has many filters and effects	Messenger Stories has face filters, draw with emojis and crop and rotate
Facebook Stories used to allow for ephemeral direct messaging	All replies to Facebook Stories and Messenger Stories go to Messenger inbox
Facebook Stories allows you to create story highlights	Messenger Stories does not have story highlights