Posting to Snapchat

When you open the app, you will immediately open to the camera where you are able to take a selfie, rotate the camera to take a picture or upload a picture. When you want to post your snap > click on send > send to our story to appear in snapchat discover tab > send privately or to group

There are many editing options available on Snapchat.

- Caption (T icon): Add a caption or any other text, complete with bold, italics, or underline styles.
- Doodle (pencil icon): Snapchat's drawing tool. You can change the color and size of your brush, or tap the heart icon to draw with emojis.
- Stickers (square icon that resembles a sticky note): Add stickers from the Snapchat library or create a personal Bitmoji sticker if you're feeling adventurous.

- Scissors (scissors icon): You can select just about any part of a Snap to turn it into a sticker you can use on your current Snap or save for the future. The scissors icon also gives you access to the Magic Eraser, which allows you to remove elements of the photo; the Backdrop tool, which allows you to add a patterned backdrop to your snap; and the Tint Brush, which allows you to change the color of objects in your Snap.
- Paperclip (paperclip icon): Tap this icon to enter the URL of any webpage. When your friend views your Snap, they can swipe up to find the linked webpage.
- Timer (stopwatch icon): Select the amount of time that your Snap will be viewable—up to 10 seconds. Or, choose the infinity symbol to let your friends view the Snap for as long as they like.

OP TIP!

The crop feature and filters feature is only available on uploaded images.

Get familiar with Tiktok

Watch and create videos: Videos are central to the TikTok experience. They can be uploaded or created in-app with stop and start recording, timers, and other tools. Live streaming is also an option. Users can add visual filters, time effects, split screens, green screens, transitions, stickers, GIFs, emoji, and much more.
Add Music: TikTok's extensive music library and integration with Apple Music is where the app edges out all other social platforms. Creators can add, remix, save, and discover songs and sounds via playlists, videos, and more.

Interact: TikTok users can follow accounts they like, and give hearts, gifts, comments or shares on videos they enjoy. Videos, hashtags, sounds, and effects can be added to a user's Favorites section.

Discover: The Discover feed is all about hashtags, but users can also search for keywords, users, videos, and sound effects. People can add friends by searching their username, or scanning their unique TikCode.

Explore profiles: TikTok profiles show a tally of follows and followers, as well as an overall total of the number of hearts a user has received. As on Twitter and Instagram, official accounts are given blue checkmarks.

Spend virtual coins: Coins can be used to give Virtual Gifts on TikTok. When a user buys them, they can convert them into diamonds or emoji. Diamonds can be exchanged for cash . Prices for coins start at $1.39 for 100, and go up to $139.00 for 10,000 .

TikTok Duets: Duets are a popular collaborative feature on TikTok that allows users to sample another person's video and add themselves to it. Duets can range from genuine collabs, remixes, spoofs, and more. Artists like Lizzo, Camila Cabello, and Tove Lo have used the format to promo singles and connect with fans.

React Videos: YouTubers pioneered the reaction genre, but TikTokers have perfected it. Under the share option of someone's video, users can select React. They can record their reaction while the video plays, and position where they want their overlay video to play alongside the original.

Cross-platform sharing: TikTok memes don't just stay on TikTok. In many cases, users share their content on other social networks like Twitter, Pinterest, Snapchat, and Instagram. Integration for sharing on these apps and others is built in. There are more than 32 million posts with the hashtag #TikTok on Instagram. In many cases, captions can add a new layer to an already existing TikTok meme.
